Organisation details

The Millan Centre is a community hub exclusively dedicated to empowering women and girls in Bradford's Manningham and Heaton areas. They provide a safe and accessible environment for educational, social and health-related activities. With a focus on equal opportunities and diversity, the centre offers a varied program that stimulates personal growth and fosters active citizenship. Courses and groups cater to women over 19 years old, while girls under 18 can participate with parental consent. Through grants and partnerships, the Millan Centre remains an independent resource, offering sewing classes, ESOL, life skills, digital skills and more.

Website:

The centre are looking for a skilled web designer to refresh and modernise the charity's website. The current site has not been updated for some time and does not effectively showcase the charity's activities, the support available or its achievements.

Our aim is to create a user-friendly, engaging, and accessible website that highlights the charity's impact, promotes its services and encourages community involvement. The ideal candidate will have experience in designing websites for non-profits, ensuring clear navigation, mobile responsiveness and an inviting visual design.

If you have the expertise to transform the website into an effective platform that truly represents the charity's work, we would love to hear from you.
