

Big Bradford Clean Up - 27th March 2026

As we near the end of our Bradford City of Culture corporate volunteering activity - This is our final push to do something big for our city.

We're inviting all businesses in Bradford to take part in a simple initiative that will make an immediate difference to our local environment.

Earth Hour encourages everyone to step away from technology and pollutants temporarily for one hour to focus on connecting with our planet. (Technically this takes place on Saturday March 28th, but we will celebrate on Friday the 27th March, in the hope that more of you can join in!).

Challenge Details

We're asking businesses to encourage their staff to take one hour out of their working day to clean up the area surrounding their workplace - making a real impact on local streets, green spaces, and public areas.

We are hoping to create a cleaner, more welcoming environment for your employees, your customers, and the wider community.

How to Get Involved

- You can do your clean up anytime on Friday 27th March
- Colleagues spend one hour litter picking or doing small jobs to improve the public space (or the appearance of your own business) in their immediate neighbourhoods
- Tag us in social media posts about your clean-up
#bigbradfordcleanup

We'd love your colleagues and organisation to be involved and help set a positive example within the community.

To take part please Complete this form and we will send you further details about the event, our Frequently Asked Questions document and our briefing video for staff. We can also help to organise any tools and equipment you might need.

Number of Volunteers

Participation can be scaled to suit your team's size. We are welcoming both large teams and individuals to join.
